Opening venue: Thursday, November 18 at 6pm

Since March 2020 with the onset of the pandemic, Art has been suffering. Monteoliveto Gallery has always intended to express the importance of contemporary art as a tool for reading and interpreting the different points of view of our "changing world". And in this changing world due to the precariousness of the health situation, the gallery enthusiastically carried out virtual and live online initiatives to support the artists and propose their works and projects on the multimedia platforms and on the gallery website.

Now the horizons are finally positive and to celebrate the reopening of events in presence and underline the resilience and the ability of artists to face and overcome difficulties, Monteoliveto Gallery proposes in its space in Paris, the exhibition Never Give Up.

The aim is to underline the strength that the artists have shown in resisting this hard period, inviting them to present the most relevant work created during confinement, painting, sculpture, graphics, photography, as the artistic witness of their emotions and the desire to make art great again at the center of life.

The exhibition and the works presented to the Parisian public by Monteoliveto Gallery / Paris constitute a hinge between tradition and contemporaneity and promote intercultural dialogue through the "artistic emotions" of individual artists. A manifesto in favor of Culture and a tribute to the artists who lived through this particularly complex period.
